The Story of a Classic

Bear and Son Cutlery is proud to manufacture our 4th Generation Series, made of high-polished 1095 Carbon Steel Blades and popular Yellow Delrin® handles and Red Stag Bone handles. The 4th Generation name comes from the style knife I remember my Papa sitting on the front porch on Saturday afternoon, listening to a Braves game on the radio and peeling an apple. I would try to peel that apple without breaking the peel. My Papa Griffey would always accomplish this seemingly impossible task. I can also remember sitting with my Papa, Dad and Uncle whittlin' a piece of cedar. I can still smell that pile of fine shavings at the end of the day.

These knives have 1095 Carbon Blades, nickel silver bolsters, & round 4th Generation Sheilds.

Knife Anatomy

Highest quality materials and years of experience in knife making combine to make our knives comfortable in hand, a beauty to behold and still tough enough to go the distance.

1. Hollow ground blades
2. Popular blade styles
3. High carbon 440 rust resistant steel blades
4. Hand-matched blade and locking bar
5. All contact points are hand polished to ensure smooth operation
6. Tarnish-resistant nickel silver bolsters
7. Contoured handle for a great feel
8. Dated Dotted System*

* This Dotted System is ideal for the knife collector. It lets the collector know when his pattern was manufactured.

How the Dot System works is:
Look at (Example)

Count the stars on the tang stamp which counts 3, take the 3 stars away from year 2020 and it lets you know that the knife was manufactured in 2017.

416-Layer Bear Strike High Definition Damascus

We are the only commercial knife manufacturer offering knives with Damascus blades. Damascus steel combines steels of different properties and produces blades with extraordinary toughness and edge-holding ability. Known as the Steel of the Ancients, Damascus knives and swords have lived in legend since the creation of Damascus steel nearly 2,000 years ago. The ancient city of Damascus was one of the centers of production of this steel. That, combined with the fact that the steel resembled the damask cloth which was being produced in the city of Damascus- both having a "water-marked" pattern- gave this steel its name. Viewed under a microscope, the cutting edge of a Damascus blade displays tiny saw-tooth carbides which are formed by forging in a coal fire. This enables the blade to cut even when it feels dull to the touch. Flexibility is superb. Every piece of Damascus is as unique as a thumb print. When ground on an angle, as in a blade, the displayed pattern is stunning. Note: Limited quantities available.

D-108 52" T x 12" D x 16" W

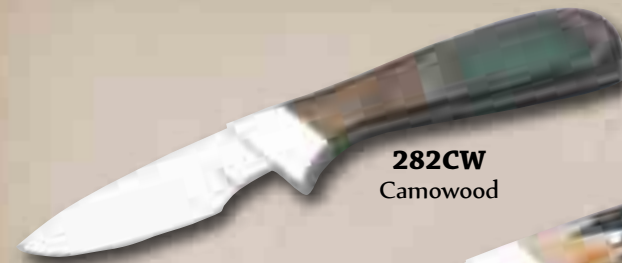

Bear & Son Cutlery knives are designed, finished and priced for the hunter, sportsman, tradesman, handyman and knife enthusiast. While other manufacturers are looking for short-cuts to eliminate the labor out of finishing, we finish our knives the same way custom makers do – BY HAND and one at a time! Bear & Son Cutlery offers three free merchandisers and eight display panels (two revised 2012 panels). The D-36 display features one panel. The D-72 display features two panels and the D-108 floor display features three panels. Each panel displays 12 patterns. One of each are loaded into the red vac panels and two each are back-up stock. Each display features a lockable front oak frame, and you can easily show or sell products from the panel. The D-108 floor display has a double locking door oak frame, so the unit is front opening for panel or back stock. The D-36 and D-72 displays have front opening lockable storage compartments in the back. Merchandising is critical for sales success in this category. Pick the size and assortment that best suits your customers and watch your sales GROW!

Bear & Son Family

The history of Bear & Son Cutlery is a very proud history of combined knowledge from many prestigious cutlery companies. It started in 1991, when 3 men bought the Parker Edwards facility in Jacksonville, Alabama. The facility was famous for the production of Damascus steel knives. Also, our facility was the newest plant and ONLY complete southern cutlery plant. Many people did not know this was the sister plant to W. R. Case & Sons Cutlery. The 3 of us; Herman McIntosh, Ken Griffey, and Greg Cook, saw this as a great opportunity to continue to follow our passion for making high quality cutlery, so we started Bear MGC Cutlery. Our resumes were impressive with the combined knowledge of W. R. Case, Gerber, and Parker Edwards. Between the three of us, and our wives, we had over 100 years of experience in the cutlery industry. In addition, our supervisors and management team had lengthy experience with Parker Edwards, Chicago Cutlery, & Gerber. This rounded out the best starting group anyone could ask for in the cutlery industry. The newly formed company, Bear MGC Cutlery, began to takeoff with numerous Blade Magazine Awards. Perhaps the largest jump in name recognition was in 1995, when Bear most innovated the new multi-tool, according to Blade Magazine. In 1999, Swiss Army Brands, Inc. purchased Bear MGC. During this time, McIntosh and Cook decided it was time to retire and spend time with their families, while I stayed on and ran the facility for Swiss Army Brands, Inc. Sandy, my wife, had worked for Bear in the premium and purchasing departments, since 1991. Matt, my son, worked on the factory floor learning how to build a quality knife from start to finish, since he was 18 years old. In early 2004, the three of us, myself, Sandy and Matt decided to buy Bear back from Swiss Army Brands, Inc. We renamed the company Bear & Son Cutlery and released the Custom Heritage line, one of the hottest new collectible lines on the market. Bear & Son Cutlery will continue it's ongoing commitment to make the best knife possible, make them in America and make them affordable. With the help of our supervisors and management team, which have a combined experience of over 290 years with Gerber, W. R. Case & Sons Cutlery, Buck, Parker Edwards, Schrade, and Bear MGC Cutlery and a trained force of over 90 craftsmen strong. EVERYONE RESPECTS A BEAR. Buy a Bear and Son or Bear MGC knife today. We want to welcome you to our Bear family.

Custom Heritage Series

I found myself looking through some old family photographs some time ago and became drawn to a particular photograph that I had never seen before. It was a photo of my Grandfather holding an old Robeson knife. I could not wait to call my Father to see if he knew the whereabouts of the knife; Not only did we find the knife pictured, but we found a few other knives that my Grandfather had owned as well. I suppose we all come to think about our heritage at some point in our lives, the photograph of my Grandfather really made me focus on mine. What could be more appropriate than for me to make some knives in the style of those old knives my Grandfather had owned and loved so long ago?

Now that my son, Matt, is in the business with me, the timing seems perfect for launch of this new Bear and Son Cutlery Collection. How very special it is to work with my son on the Heritage Collection, which to our customers, will be knives collected and cherished for years to come. To Matt and I, these knives are made in tribute to my Grandfather and to also continue the tradition of master craftsman long ago.

My Grandfather would be proud of the American-made quality with which these knives are made. These knives feature genuine bone and Abalone handles, most have long nail pull marks and highly polished 440 Stainless Steel blades. The Heritage Collection features a special tang stamp, blade etch, inlaid shield, and is packaged in a special tin box. More than 91 hand steps by a staff of skilled craftsman will assure quality matching those knives that were favorites of my Grandfather so long ago. - Ken Griffey.
