Colonial Knife Co.

Thank you very much for your interest in Colonial's line of pocket and hunting knives.

Colonial Knife has been manufacturing quality pocket knives in Providence, Rhode Island since 1919. We are a traditional New England company dedicated to offering you the highest standards of quality at the lowest possible prices. Colonial has always maintained a reputation for exceptional quality and prompt delivery. ALL of our products are manufactured by experienced craftsmen. Along with making affordable hunting and sport knives, we are also concerned with the environment. All of our manufacturing processes meet or exceed the Environmental Protection Agency standards. Another area in which Colonial Knife has helped in protecting our natural resources is by having this catalog printed on recycled paper. By doing this, we are helping to save our forests for our children and future generations to come.

Cutlery, as a general term, refers to one of the earliest utensils crafted and used by man – knives.

Knives, cutting instruments, have either a straight or folding blade. Flint, bronze, stone, iron and copper knife artifacts prove they were in use from at least 1500 B.C. For cutting, hunting and defense, a well-formed knife has been one of man's most prized and primary possessions. Old Cutler knives are made in the true manner of the master cutler.

Carefully fitted and finished to provide a top quality cutting instrument with smooth action, smooth feel, and rugged dependability.
